Para Ellos, Lo Impatie es que la Gente entre en la Plataforma, Y Serie Como Esta Lo Consiguen, 20th episode of the eighth season of Seinfeld "The Millennium" Seinfeld Episode of Episode. Å 1997" (1997-05-01) Wayne Knight guest appearances in the role of Newman Richard Herd as Wilhelm Lauren Graham as Valerie Louan Gideon as Mrs. Hamilton Victoria Mahoney as Gladys Michael Luskín as Minkler Bruce Jarchow sits in the shoes of Mooney Maria China as Saleswoman Steve Koron as herself episode of the episode CRONOLOGY It was the 20th episode of the eighth season and broadcast on May 1, 1997. [1] In this episode, Kramer and Newman Plan Rival Millennium Parties, George tries to be fired as spectacularly as possible, and Jerry ends up in a three-way struggle with his girlfriend and stepmother of his girlfriend on which numbers appear reciprocating on the other quick call. Trama's New York Management Mets asks George to leave the Yankees in New York and become their chief scout. He decides to start in a flame of glory with a dramatic fire, but his efforts only end up making him look better. He wears Babe Ruth's uniform and gets food stains, but Mr. Steinbrenner praises it, thinking he shows a "outside with the old, with the new" mentality. George crosses the Yankee Stadium during a game, wearing a meat-colored body suit, which wins fans' enthusiasm. He destroys a Yankees World Series trophy by hooking it to his car and driving through the parking lot while yelling insults with a megaphone. This finally brings the anger of Steinbrenner, but Mr. Wilhelm takes the blame for ordering avorp avorp ic enialE .steM i noc oroval li ednerp e otainecil eneiv ,oefort led enoizurtsid an ethnic-themed clothes store called Putumayo out of business after receiving bad customer service. She tries shopping at a competing store, Cinco de Mayo, but discovers that the same woman owns both stores. She tells Kramer to change all the price tags to 99 cents, but he accidentally breaks the pricing gun before he can finish. Instead, he takes the desiccant packs from the clothes, eats some chips the store gives out to customers, and unknowingly drops one of the desiccant packs in the salsa. Kramer and Newman are planning rival millennium parties. Newman's party is called "Newmannium". Fearing all his friends will go to Newmannium, Kramer accepts an offer to co-host Newmannium instead, under the condition that they do not invite Jerry. However, moved by loyalty to Jerry, Kramer resurrects his own party and gets Elaine to come. Newman lets Jerry come to Newmannium in exchange for Elaine's presence. Jerry points out to Newman that since he booked Newmannium for the Millennium new year, the hotel would have scheduled it on December 31, 2000 due to there being no year zero, while millennium celebrations are held almost universally on December 31, 1999, making Newman's party a year late. After a subpar date, Jerry notices his girlfriend, Valerie, has moved his number from number 7 to 9 on her speed dial. He takes her on an extravagant date to get his speed dial "ranking" boosted up to 1. Her domineering stepmom demands Jerry surrender the number 1 spot. When Valerie hears of this, she takes her stepmom off speed dial altogether. Her stepmom instigates trouble by putting Jerry on her speed dial. Valerie has Jerry negotiate to get himself off her stepmom's speed dial in exchange for Valerie putting her back on her speed dial, but the stepmom only concedes to hiding Jerry's number in her emergency speed dials. Later, she's poisoned by eating the desiccant-contaminated salsa. When Valerie calls poison control, Jerry Valerie is disgusted at this and hangs up. Production The table read for the episode was held on March 5, 1997, and filming took place on March 11.[2] The fans cavorting with the bodysuit-clad George were played by Seinfeld writers Steve Koren, Gregg Kavet, Andy Robin, and Spike Feresten.[2] Cut material from the episode included a callback to "The Comeback": When George is talking about getting fired, Kramer asks "Is Steinbrenner married?", prompting George to angrily shoot back "I'm not saying I had sex with his wife!"[2] The scenes with Jerry and ValerieeÅÅAs mother parody The Graduate.
